

FOOD FOR LIFE CQUIN BENCHMARKING AND AUDIT

We support and empower NHS leaders to put good food at the top of the agenda for patients, staff and visitors: our expert tailored approach draws on experience of working with over 70 hospitals, trusts and health boards across the UK.

Food for Life's 'Healthy food for NHS staff, visitors and patients' CQUIN benchmarking and audit helps NHS trusts and retail outlets to understand where they are in relation to achieving compliance; making recommendations for change and providing evidence for Clinical Commissioning Groups.

Supporting materials are designed to be user friendly which can be particularly helpful when working with volunteer run retail services around compliance.

The support package includes:

CQUIN benchmarking and report:

- an audit of each retail outlet against the current CQUIN requirements
- a report that can be shared with retail outlets, and provides a blueprint for the required changes

Supportive CQUIN guides:

- easy to use guides designed to support retail outlets, including those run by volunteers, in self-monitoring and making changes

CQUIN audit and report:

- a second audit, shortly before the end of the financial year, to show change and check on final compliance
- an audit report that can be used, alongside the bench marking report, as evidence for the CCG

“Food for Life's CQUIN support gave us a clear understanding of the changes needed for compliance across the Trust. At the end of the year we had strong evidence for the CCG and were delighted to be fully compliant.”
